

May 15

What do the following dozen individuals have in common professionally?

- Lt. Gen. Lew Allen, Jr., USAF, DIRNSA
- LTG Marshall Carter, USA, DIRNSA
- VADM Noel Gayler, USN, DIRNSA
- Vice Admiral Bobby Inman, DIRNSA
- Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, USAF, DIRNSA
- Benson Buffham, D/DIRNSA
- Robert Drake, D/DIRNSA
- Dr. Louis Tordella, D/DIRNSA
- William Colby, Director of Central Intelligence
- Admiral Stansfield Turner, Director of Central Intelligence
- Dr. Albert Hall, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Intelligence
- Robert Froehlke, Secretary of the Army

TRIVIA ANSWER: These twelve men were all Honorary Members of the Dundee Society. Membership in this elite society was automatic for graduates of the Intensive Study Program in General Analysis (CA-400), alongside the course's redoubtable leader, Lambros Callimahos.

Beginning in 1968, each Dundee Society Annual Reunion featured the welcoming of a new Honorary Member. Callimahos was able to draw a remarkable spectrum of dignitaries into the pageantry of the reunions, which were presided over by Callimahos himself (dressed in increasingly elaborate "Guru" regalia). ADM Inman and Robert Drake became Honorary Members under the auspices of the instructor who assumed the reins of CA-400 after Calimahos in 1977 and who taught several CA-400 classes.

The DIRNSA, Lt Gen Phillips, became a member in 1973

502 caption: General Philips, in uniform, shaking hands with Lambros Callimahos, who is wearing a Nehru jacket and a turban, with a large pendant around his neck